Speaker:

Richard A. Shepard

From 1987 to 2013, he was a Senior Investigator with the State Fire Marshal's Office in Augusta. Mr. Shepard has received numerous citations including the Outstanding Service Award by the Law Enforcement Association of Maine and Fire Science Technology Instructor of the Year by the Maine Fire Training and Education Association. Rick is also a lifetime member and founding father of the Maine Chapter IAAI.

Program Information:

Basic Fire Investigation: Maine State law requires that the fire chief of all Maine communities determine the Origin and Cause of all fires kindled in their community to which the fire department responds. With the current change in response from the State Fire Marshal's Office, this responsibility will again fall onto the the local chief except in cases of determined arson or fatal fires. This program is geared towards providing the Fire Chief or Department Investigator the initial tools necessary to conduct a basic Origin and Cause (O&C) investigation.

Message from the Maine Chapter IAAI

The Maine Chapter of the International Association of Arson Investigators was formed in 1992 to further the education and training of fire and arson investigators throughout the State of Maine. The primary goal of the organization is to provide excellent training opportunities for as low a cost as possible to its members. The Directors of the Chapter would like your input as to future training programs you would like to see or any suggested instructors for our programs. Please contact any Director with your needs or suggestions. Thank You
